Keesing ID Workshop

Theory & skills

During the workshops, participants learn how to recognise and inspect security features. The course material is based on everyday situations, and contains many practical tips.

Profiling & look-a-like fraud

These courses also cover profiling techniques, which are used to assess whether the person presenting a document is also its legal holder. During this part of the workshop, participants learn how to work with photographs and how to ask the document holder relevant questions.

Result

The workshops teach participants the knowledge and skills needed to conduct an ID check and recognize genuine, forged and counterfeit documents. The skills learned during the workshops will also enable participants to establish - in a customer-friendly manner - whether the person presenting the document is its legal holder. All participants receive an abridged reference manual and a certificate of participation.

Given by experienced document experts

The workshops are given by the experienced document specialists of the ID Academy. Our experienced trainers are experts in the investigation of document fraud. These trainers share their knowledge by giving ID document authentication workshops all over the world.
